

EMTA Predicts Prosperous Summer Season For Northern Michigan

See More Spring And Fall Vacations

A prosperous summer season for Michigan's recreational area was forecast today by Frank Davis, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association.

Davis said advance indications pointed to "as good a season as we had last summer, but not such a terrific volume of business that visitors need worry about overcrowded resorts."

He said his prediction was based on the following factors:

1. Numerous resorts which were hampered by war-time man-power and materials shortages will be operating at full scale again for the first time since 1941, thus increasing the capacity of over-all accommodations.
2. There is a growing tendency among Michigan residents who regularly vacation in their own state to take holidays in spring, autumn and winter, thus lengthening the tourist season and easing the housing situation during July and August when many outside visitors seek Michigan's cooling breezes.

Despite his belief that there will be little if any accommodations shortage this summer, Davis warned prospective vacationers to thoroughly plan their trips and make reservations early. There are still plenty of vacancies.

Hold 7th Annual Bowling Banquet

Over 100 bowlers, sponsors and guests attended the 7th Annual Grayling Men's Bowling League Banquet at the American Legion Hall last Wednesday evening, where members of the Grayling Legion Post served a dinner with chicken and ham as the main courses.

Over $500 in team and individual prizes were distributed by League Secretary-Treasurer Harold Jarman. The 1946-47 season lasted 26 weeks, with 14 teams competing. Up to this time, the league had been comprised of but 12 teams. Chances for the contenders to climb to 16 for next season are good, league officials stated.

Rites Read For Adam F. Gierke

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, April 22, at 2:00 in the afternoon for Adam Frank Gierke, for 41 years a resident of Grayling. Rev. R. C. Puffer read the final rites at Michelson Memorial Church. Alfred Hanson, Jesse Schoonover, Carl Johnson, T. F. Peterson, Emil Niederer and James McDonnell served as pallbearers.

Mr. Gierke passed away at Mercy Hospital, Saturday, April 19, as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered the previous Wednesday. His health had been failing the past several months.

The deceased was born in Mecklenburg, Germany, December 15, 1861, the son of Augustus and Louisa Gierke. The family moved to this country when he was only two years old, and settled in Detroit, Michigan. From there they moved to Alpena and then to Bay City in 1880. Mary Ann Lamont became his bride in that city on November 23, 1887. In 1906 they, with their children, moved to Grayling, where they have ever since resided.

Mr. Gierke, a conductor, retired from railroad service on September 30, 1930, after continuous employment since December 20, 1886. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and also the Grayling Lodge, F. & A. M.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Elmer Rasmussen of Grayling, Mrs. Leo Jeambert of Detroit, and Mrs. Gerda Larke of Grayling; and five sons, Frank M. of Manistiquette, Charles of Battle Creek, and Lloyd, Edward R. and Earl, all of Grayling; and a brother, Albert C. Gierke, of Grayling. A son, Wilson J., preceded him in death. He also leaves thirty grandchildren and thirty-one great grandchildren, as well as a host of friends to mourn his passing.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Johnson of Grand Rapids celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on April 12th. The Johnsons, former Grayling residents, left here about 20 years ago. Mrs. Johnson was Gladys Pearl Buck before her marriage.

Sixty-two relatives were present for the reception, and among the gifts and cards received by the happy couple was a card from the minister who was pastor at the time of their wedding.

The couple have seven children, 23 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

The program, in brief, consists of showy and amusing magical effects and other novelties. Mr. Glass is a thoroughly experienced entertainer and his show is sure to please all who attend.

There will be an afternoon performance for the children at 2:15. No set charge is made for this, but children are asked to give what they can. A performance will be given for adults in the evening at 8:00. The admission will be 40 cents. The date is Wednesday, April 30.

Hospital Releases Baby Following Difficult Operation

Marilyn Elwing, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Elwing Jr., of Lewiston, was released late last week from Mercy Hospital here, following a major operation to remove an open safety pin she had swallowed.

Lodged in the lining of her stomach, the open pin was removed after a surgeon performed a gastrostomy. The operation was a success in every respect, and the baby will soon be in normal health again, the parents were assured.

The pin was discovered by x-ray at Gaylord, following the mother's discovery of a safety pin missing from the little child's clothing. The baby was rushed to the Grayling hospital, where the Gaylord doctor, with the assistance of a local physician, performed the operation to remove the dangerous pin. It was the first operation of its kind to take place here, according to the physicians.

HELPS ENTERTAIN VETERANS

Mrs. Leo Jorgensen, Greta Rasmussen and Mrs. Amelia Zahm of St. Helen spent from Wednesday until Friday in Battle Creek. Mrs. Zahm is 10th District President of the American Legion Auxiliary, and Mrs. Jorgensen is 10th District Rehabilitation Chairman.

Each month the patients at the American Legion Hospital in Battle Creek and the Veterans Hospital at Fort Custer are entertained with a birthday party, and it was the 10th District's turn this time. Two other units of the 10th District also helped.

Each patient in the American Legion Hospital was given a gift, and a program was presented for them. Mrs. Greta sang. At the Veterans Hospital a program was presented and ice cream, cake, candy and cigarettes served. Greta sang for this program also.

Money from the proceeds of the Poppy Sale pays for the entertainment. While there, Mrs. Jorgensen and Greta visited the occupational therapy department and saw the poppies being made.

Kiwanis Club Notes

The first two training films to be purchased as a start toward a Grayling School film library were screened at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling held at Shoppenagons Inn, Monday evening.

The films were entitled, "The Growth of Fibers" and "Mississippi Basin". The first traced the growth and subsequent processing of silk, wool, flax and cotton, while the second was a film covering the states and industries of that part of the country encompassed by the huge Mississippi drainage basin.

The club welcomed in a new member and a returning former member. Prosecuting Attorney Robert F. Neafie was given his membership pin in the club by Lieut. Governor Charles Moore, who also welcomed back to active membership, T. P. Peterson.

A report by Secretary-Treasurer Emil Giegling revealed that the old-fashioned box social and square dance party held at Vern's AuSable Inn last Saturday evening had added a net profit of over $400 to the Kiwanis Milk Fund.

Credit for a fine party and time—plus a real boost for a worthy project—is in order for Kiwanians Dr. J. F. Cook, Alfred Sorenson, Ray Clement, John Peterson, Frank Bond, Jerome Kessler, Fred Welsh Jr., and Earl R. Burns for their work on committees and at the party. The club is also indebted to William Joseph, Robert Hays and Don Gohr for their willing help at the Saturday night party, and to W. L. McClanahan for a donation to the fund.

Over 100 Kiwanians and their guests attended and enjoyed the music of the Michigan Lumberjacks for square dancing and their racy and enjoyable floor show following the dancing. An enjoyable half hour of lively bidding followed as the men bid on some really beautifully decorated (and filled) lunch boxes prepared by the ladies. Other games and diversions were offered for the enjoyment of those present and for the benefit of the Kiwanis Milk Fund.

Following the Eighth Divisional meeting to be held at the Traverse City Country Club on May 9, the local Kiwanis Club is planning a picnic to be held at a nearby lake for the benefit of the Club's Scout Fund.

Married At Home Wedding

Miss Beatrice Papendick became the bride of Frank May, Jr., on Thursday, April 10, at four o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. Holland C. Puffer officiated at the single ring ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Papendick, on Ogdenway Street. Sweet peas and snapdragons helped make the home attractive for the occasion.

There were seventeen guests present. The groom is the son of Mrs. Frank May.

The bride wore a blue suit and pink accessories and her flowers were pink and blue sweet peas. As her only attendant, Mrs. Arthur May chose a pale yellow dress complemented with brown and similar flowers. Arthur May was best man for his brother.

Mrs. Papendick chose a gray dress and pink accessories for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. May was attended in a navy ensemble with white accessories.

A reception was given by Mrs. Hurl Decker, Mrs. Leo Lovely and Mrs. Oscar Goss at the home of the bride's parents, at which seventeen were present. A large three-tiered wedding cake, trimmed with California blueberry bush, guarded by tall tapers, graced the serving table. The bride and groom's table was decorated in pink and blue and also had candles.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May and son; Mr. and Mrs. George Daniels and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rasinen of Detroit; Cliff Newell of Five Lake; Mrs. Frank May and Mrs. Eugene Papendick and sons, Clifford and Victor.

The happy young couple are at home to their friends at 501 Ogdenway Street, following a honeymoon spent in Pinconning.

Present Film Program At Danebod Hall

The Rev. Alfred Jensen of Des Moines, Iowa, president of the Synod of the Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, spoke to the members of the congregation of the Grayling Evangelical Lutheran Church, Wednesday, April 16, at the Danebod Hall, on the Lutheran Churches' mercy work in Europe. Rev. Jensen showed two films—"The Good Fight" and "Mary Louise", both dealing with the sufferings and the misery of the survivors of the war, and the constructive work being done in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to remedy the conditions.

After the pictures and the talk, all gathered together at coffee tables, where an enjoyable time was had by everyone.

Mr. Jensen is a member of the National Lutheran Council, which is composed of the eight largest Lutheran Church groups in the United States.

Maple Forest

Mr. and Mrs. Bossie Williams of Front Royal, Virginia, announce the marriage of their daughter, Hazel Roberts, to Sgt. Otis Charles Feldhauser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feldhauser, of Maple Forest. The double ring ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Flint Hill Methodist Church by Rev. O. W. Lynch on Saturday afternoon, April 12.

The attendants were the bride's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams. The bride wore a powder blue dress with navy blue accessories, and her corsage was of red rose buds. Following the ceremony, the young couple left on a short wedding trip.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith was very gay Saturday evening, when their children gathered to help them celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary. This event should have taken place April 8th, but because of bad roads and weather conditions, had to be postponed. A delicious supper was enjoyed. The table was very prettily decorated with flowers. The evening was spent visiting and reminiscing. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married in Ithaca, Mich., April 8, 1897, and moved to their present home in Maple Forest 32 years ago. They are the parents of nine children, six of whom are living. They have fourteen grandchildren. Mr. Smith is 76; Mrs. Smith is 67 years old. Joyce Howso spent the weekend in Frederick with Barbara (Continued on Page 10)

Davis opened the meeting, which over 60 interested persons attended. About 15 attended from Grayling, Mio, Oscoda, Roscommon, Higgins Lake and Bay City were also represented. Davis gave a general talk, sketching the background of the proposed river marathon, and then opened the subject for general discussion before the study committee was named by a motion.

Most of the open discussion centered about the number of days to be consumed in the race and the time of year that it would be staged. Willard Harwood of Grayling, who is the distributor of a number of makes of canoes, stated that all the companies he represents are definitely interested in the race and would undoubtedly enter canoes and teams.

Three Arraigned In Circuit Court

Guilty, Not Guilty And Mute Pleas Entered

In a special session of Circuit Court, one man pleaded guilty, another not guilty, and a third stood mute before Judge John Shaffer when arraigned in the court room last Friday afternoon.

Charles C. Gillman, 28, of Saginaw, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the night time with the intent of committing a felony. Gillman was returned to Grayling from Spokane, Washington, by Sheriff William Golnick in connection with the smashing and rifling of the Alfred Hanson Garage safe some time ago. Gillman made a full confession in court. Sentence was deferred by Judge Shaffer until he had a report from the probation officer on Gillman.

Andrew Kovacovich, 42, of Saginaw, who is being held on the same charge in the safe-cracking case, pleaded not guilty to the charge. Judge Shaffer appointed Attorney Charles Moore to represent the defendant when Kovacovich was not represented. The trial date was not set, but is expected to be some time in May.

Arlene Kovacovich, wife of the defendant, and Herbert Maturnen, both of Saginaw, who have been held as material witnesses in the case, were released on $500 bond.

Ebbon C. Smith of Maple Forest stood mute when arraigned on a charge of statutory rape. Judge Shaffer entered a not guilty plea for him and ordered him to the Psychopathic Ward at the Traverse City Hospital for a mental examination.

Smith was arrested by Sheriff Golnick and pleaded guilty and waived examination when arraigned in Justice Court before Justice Emil Giegling. He was adjudged sane by doctors at the Traverse hospital, and will undoubtedly stand trial during the same term when Kovacovich has his day in court.

Charles Forbes of Grayling pleaded guilty and waived examination in Justice Court when arraigned Monday before Justice Emil Giegling on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Forbes allegedly drove away a car belonging to Gilbert Fowler of Grayling. He was arrested in Detroit driving the car. Sheriff Golnick returned the car and Forbes to Grayling. Forbes also will face Circuit Court in the near future on the car stealing charge.

Prosecutor Robert F. Neafie stated that a crime wave, though small, had begun in Grayling, and urged Sheriff Golnick and his staff for hard and persistent work that seems to be nipping the violations in the bud.

The card party sponsored by the Cheerful Givers Ladies' Club was well attended and a very nice time was had by all. This was the first party to be held in the ladies' new club room.

A progressive pedro party will be given by the Cheerful Givers Club, May 3, at the Ladies' Club room. No charges are asked for this party, but there will be a miscellaneous shower given the ladies for their club rooms.

Next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ed Kellogg, with three birthdays to be observed (those of Mrs. Edith Spaulding, Mrs. Olive Gregor and Mrs. Emma Stillwagon). Also the "Secret Pals" names will be revealed. A pot-luck dinner will be served.

A. Pochelon and sons, Albert and William, spent a few days at their summer home on the North Branch, beginning preparations for the rest of the family for the summer season.

Mrs. Nick Loeffler has been very ill again.

The William Spauldings had as their guests Sunday, their three children, Pierson Spaulding and wife, Colburn Spaulding and wife, and Mrs. William Winston with her husband and children.

Mrs. Otto Kuisei has as a guest a friend, Mrs. Hugh Galbraith of Saginaw, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Munroe and a couple of friends, of Lansing, spent the week-end at their cabin in Lovells.

Health Department

Last Wednesday, Dr. Peck of the Children's Foundation of Lake City, assisted by Mrs. Gorman, County Nurse, and Mrs. Corwin, School Nurse, examined and immunized several pupils. In all, 75 children, grades Kindergarten to Fifth, were examined; 22 were immunized, 32 were vaccinated, and 7 given booster doses of toxoid.

Dr. Peck will return on May 15 to give the second doses and do more immunizing.

Visual Education

Another excellent Denis-Roosevelt Asiatic Expedition picture was shown to the pupils last week. The film showed many shot of beautiful pagodas and gem-encrusted temples in and near Hanoi. Following sequences showed a giant bamboo water wheel, the city of Padung, "giraffe-necked" women, elephants at work in the teak wood forests, and an awe-inspiring performance of a priestess making a symbolic offering to the King Cobra.

Mr. Stripe had charge of the Visual Education department. Part of the work of that department is the scheduling and showing of the many educational films shown in the community and school. Each year a group of student operators is trained to help with the project.

Sophomore Party

The Sophomore class sponsored the last party of the regular schedule for this year last Friday. 145 young folks bought tickets and enjoyed an evening of dancing to the music of the Rhythm Kings Trio.

Beverly McClung won the cake baked by Mrs. Middle LaMotte. Mr. Kumpula and Mr. Stripe, regular Tenth Grade sponsors, were present.

Home Extension

Last Friday afternoon, the leaders of the Home Extension groups met at the school for a lesson on "Clothing". The leader was Mrs. Green of the Home Extension Department.

Commercial Department

The Commercial Department has been very busy stenciling and mimeographing letters for the churches, Red Cross, Service organizations and business enterprises. Miss Kraus has charge of the department and excellent work can be counted on.

Democracy At Work

"To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual ways of preserving peace."

This simple truth, phrased by George Washington, shines forth more brightly today to guide the United States than it did when he uttered it 157 years ago. History emphasizes and reinforces his wisdom.

If American civilization is to endure, we must be ready to defend it. If peace is to be assured, the United States must remain strong. Huge, standing armies, however, are foreign to our traditions. How, then, can we remain strong?

One of the surest, most economical ways to accomplish this is through a vigorous National Guard, the local, volunteer, civilian-soldier organization. Its new authorized strength is 682,000 men, more than double the pre-war force. That means 682,000 worthwhile spare-time jobs for the young men of the Nation.

This is the American way, for always in American history it has been the civilian army which has borne the brunt of defending our ideals. This is the democratic way, for what can be more democratic than citizens volunteering a part of their spare-time that they may be trained to defend their homes, their State, their Nation?

The new National Guard is vital to all of us as a force to be trained, equipped and ever ready for instant mobilization to supplement the Regular Army in time of threat. It commends itself for many other reasons.

Here at home, the individual may train while pursuing his regular occupation and living a normal civilian life. He draws a full day's Regular Army pay for two hours of spare-time training a week and for each of 15 days of field training. He may learn new skills, or improve old ones, and acquire valuable experience in organization and leadership.

The National Guard is a State and Federal organization. It functions at the call of the Governor as a protector of life and property, or at the call of the President in national emergencies. It has an outstanding record of service in times of flood or other disasters, as well as in defense of the Nation.

Interesting Events In
Grayling 23 Years AgoINTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

(APRIL 24, 1947)

Henry Ford passed thru Grayling Monday at about 6:30 p. m. He and a party of Ford executives, including Edsel Ford, were en route to Iron Mountain, Upper Michigan. They occupied a special train consisting of Mr. Ford's private car, a sleeper and baggage car. Mr. Ford came out on the back platform in response to a greeting by quite a large crowd of people who had gathered there to see him. He asked a lot of questions about Grayling and conducted some good-natured kidding with a number of youngsters, which he seemed to enjoy as much as they, and they couldn't get the best of him in any way. He always had a ready answer. It certainly proved that the bigger the man the easier it is to approach him. Those who were at the train are glad of having had an opportunity of meeting Michigan's manufacturing genius.

Two new public auto garages are to be opened up for business on the South Side next week. Walter Buck, who has been employed by M. A. Atkinson in his garage since he opened up the same earlier in the year, has purchased the property of Hans R. Nelson, just above the State Street bridge, where Mr. Nelson for many years operated a garage until he secured a better position downtown. Mr. Buck has also purchased the Nelson home which is near the garage. Warren Valad took over the Atkinson Garage on Alger Street near the South Side Grocery.

A public reception was tendered Rev. Fr. Culligan, newly appointed pastor of St. Mary's Church, by the Ladies' Altar Society at Shoppenagons Inn on Tuesday evening and was well attended. The early part of the evening was made pleasant by Schram's orchestra, which rendered many fine selections. A short musical program followed. Frank Anstett rendered a couple of violin solos. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Anstett, Miss Grace Bauman, accompanied by Miss Lucille Hanson, sang a pleasing solo and responded to an encore. The remainder of the evening Mrs. Anstett, piano, Mr. Anstett, violin, and Claude Gelson, saxophone, delightfully entertained those present. T. W. Hanson in his genial way welcomed Fr. Culligan, who responded in a gracious manner.

Among those driving new autos

Michigan Mirror

a differential of $150 a year for each year of training less than the base of a Bachelor's degree.

The average school year runs nine months.

The Indiana minimum salary scale for teachers, adopted by the legislature this spring, guarantees a minimum salary of $200 a month for a teacher with two years' college training and a minimum of $266 a month for a teacher with 4 years' college training including a Bachelor's degree. Worked out on an annual basis, the compensation respectively is $1,800 and $2,400. The compensation increases each year until it reaches a maximum of $2,850, or $325 a month for a graduate of a college who has ten years' teaching experience. The Indiana law gives an incentive to a teacher to attain a Master's degree whereby at the end of 24 years' experience the teacher would be receiving a total of $400 a month or $3,800 a year in compensation.

Such a salary scale, if enacted in Michigan, would go a long way toward attracting better-class teachers.

A recent national survey of the national educational system revealed that 350,000 teachers left the public schools since 1940. The Michigan Education Association last fall pointed out that Michigan in 1946 had granted sub-standard certificates to 5,000 teachers and probably lacked another 1,000 teachers to take care of children who are on half-day sessions to reduce heavy teaching loads, or to provide teachers for schools which were forced to close and transport pupils.

On a national basis it is said that 125,000 teachers, or 1 out of every 7, are now serving on an emergency or sub-standard certificate. That teaching standards have deteriorated in recent years is widely recognized.

Twenty percent of all teachers, or 175,000, are new to their jobs each year—twice the turnover that existed before World War II.

What the Sigler administration proposes as a financial solution to the prospective deficit of $83,000,000 was the theme of a special message by the Governor last week.

Legislators generally are reluctant to enact any new taxes during the current session. Unless they are prodded vigorously by the Governor, the average legislator is inclined to appropriate funds for state services and go home, awaiting a special session of the Legislature in 1948, at which time the financial situation may be in sharper focus.

Governor Sigler has announced repeatedly that he opposes deficit financing of state public services. The alternative, of course, to such financing is the enactment of new taxes with all their accompanying political hazards.

Mineral Oil

Warning has been sounded by the medical profession against the use of mineral oil in foods. The oil is capable of interfering seriously with the absorption of carotene, Vitamin D, Calcium, Phosphorus, and Vitamin E, the doctors state. They emphasize that the indiscriminate use of the oil is not in the interest of good nutrition, and any use of it should be under the careful supervision of a physician. This news may come as a surprise to housewives who have been using mineral oil occasionally as a substitute for edible oils in salad dressings and in cooking other foods.

Federal and State food inspectors have declared war on the use of the oil in public eating places which, they say, became quite rampant during wartime and has continued since. Offenders have given the excuse that edible oils are scarce and high in price. The fact that mineral oil is both colorless and tasteless, makes it difficult for the patron to detect it in his food.

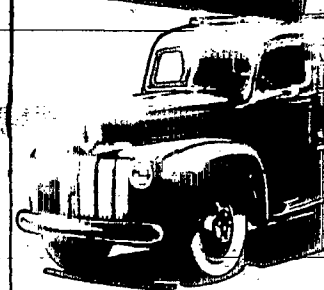

State and Federal inspectors are supported by a court decision in seizing and destroying the adulterant. Not long ago they destroyed 16 tank cars of the oil, intended as a pop corn shortening.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike
As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not barring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; make-shift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming... if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

The largest mob scenes photographed since D. W. Griffith made "Intolerance" were made for "Keeper of the Bees" at Columbia's Sunset studio—where Griffith shot those Babylonian sequences. But the mob John Sturges directed was 60,000 bees!

Now that little Marlene Ames ("Cookie Bumstead" on the CBS "Blondie" show) has appeared in the last two Academy Award pictures, she hopes she's started on her third. ## "Hooky" Popular On April 26 . . .

OPENING DAY of the Trout Season is generally regarded as a holiday by the "Tired Business Man" and all his kin.

It is his day to shake off the lethargy that came with Labor Day, 1946, which ended the trout season for that year — and has been accumulating all through the winter months. The slogan of all these folks might be "Wake-Up, Fish, and Feel Fit!"

We are making no effort to try to figure just what the number of all these folks whom lethargy has "afflicted." But they must be in the thousands.

Opening day gives all these the chance to get out and "shake a leg" (for that matter BOTH legs) and, as old Omar has it: "And in the lap of Spring Your Winter Garment of Repentance fling."

We guarantee that the water in all our Crawford County streams has cooling qualities, which may and can be obtained by falling off or tripping over a log and taking a wholly unpremeditated plunge head-first into the water.

Canoe Service Available

Ernie Borchers and Dan Babbitt tell us their canoe liveries are all ready to take care of those anglers who prefer to float, rather than wade in the rivers. Other canoe liveries are also ready for business, so there should be plenty to take care of the demand.

Guides, also, are at your beck, and, if you don't know the rivers or streams, their services of these men will come in mighty handy.

Points of embarkation on local streams include:
Grayling — For AuSable and the East Branch.
Down River — Dan C. Babbitt's Landing.
Frederic — AuSable and the East Branch.
Lovells — North Branch and Big Creek.

CONK'S COL

Made a trip out to the Power Dam Pond, in spite of the nasty weather, Sunday, a week ago. The going (afoot) wasn't exactly nice, either. We followed the spur track to the bridge, and the snow-pow certainly hadn't been out that way. And every time we got off the R. R. right of way, it was to sink in snowdrifts up to our belly-band. But we got there. There is a clear channel from the bridge down, and it certainly does look like the Northerns should be hitting good there soon. However, the wind-blown-up the pond was a bit too cold to linger around long, so we turned around and plowed our way back.

All sporting goods stores in town are blossoming out with a big array of fishing tackle right now. That, if anything, would prove it won't be long now.

And, Fred Bishaw tells us he is fabricating, designing, fashioning, and in all other processes of constructing a gorgeous new-fangled fly. We are apprehensive as to its being any good, as from his remarks about it, the freak will be another behemoth of unholy writ.

Though no mention has appeared (as yet) in our local columns, the Robin Family is beginning to move into Grayling. Unlike us human beings, the Robin Family never has to worry about housing shortages, lack of building material, shortages, or high cost of real estate. Not to mention building permits. In behalf of the people, we bid them welcome.

Articles of fishermen's paraphernalia that were about off the market last year have come back on the shelves of local sportsmen's supply stores, including fly rods, bait rods, fly reels, casting reels, and so on. So the angler will go forth well arrayed and well fortified this fishing season.

Went into Ron Hanson's store the other day, bent on picking out

HOME OF THE FIN-CLIPPED TROUT

THE GRAYLING FISH HATCHERY

The Grayling Fish Hatchery, of which Hans Peterson is Superintendent is known the nation over for its large output of trout, and its trout-planting operations cover a wide territory in this section of Michigan.

To establish what percent of the trout caught by anglers are products of this hatchery, all trout it is planting (or has planted recently) are fin-clipped.

Watch for trout among your catch for clipped dorsal (back) fins, and keep track of them in the "log" of your fishing trips, both on opening day and all season.

There has been considerable argument on the part of the State Conservation Commission regarding continuing the planting of trout, as against the fishermen's and clubs' contentions that the present planting operations should be continued.

The numbers of fin-clipped trout caught will figure in the decision in this matter. Please keep count of all these fin-clipped trout you take and report the number at local sporting goods stores, or to Conservation officer, or Mr. Peterson.

a new creel — our old one being about shot to Helen Gane. Ron quips: "What do you want a new creel for when you never catch any fish?" We hope he gets a ducking for that wisecrack, come April 26th.

Next week we hope to be able to give last-minute dope on opening day plans and prospects.

Fishing Dope

Experienced fishermen and guides state that streamer flies should be good at this time of the year.

A lot of the Old-timers swear that the common garden worm is the best-bet until the weather warms up.

The latter coterie seem to be in the majority — and past experience inclines us to believe their dope is reliable.

It would be well, this Opening Day to include BOTH flies and the garden product in your equipment. Just as you take an umbrella along on a trip to the city or elsewhere (never on a fishing trip, tho').

We believe there's a lot of truth in the Boy Scout slogan, "Be Prepared." So why not take bait as well as flies along with you to your favored fishing place

No Fishing Here, Just Now—the Gals Are Just Relaxing. Scene On A Stretch of the AuSable — Where Many a Trout Angler Will Be Wading Saturday Morning.

Everybody Set For Opening Day

There is one big reason why men leave home . . . when the opening day of the trout season rolls around.

All winter 'round, these men have kept the home fires burning—built the fires, tended the furnace, or carried in the fuel for the oil heater. And, it has been a long, cold winter.

These "mere men", as some of the opposite sex sometimes allude to us, begin to feel the impulse to get out and go fishing as soon as the snow and ice are gone. But they have waited patiently for the date they have drawn a circle around on the calendar—APRIL 26—to roll around, when they can go fishing without the apprehension that a game warden will pop his head thru the undergrowth along the stream, and declare in shiver-producing tones, "Ye're under arrrr-rest!"

Not, actually, that any true Waltonian would let the impulse run away with his sense of sportsmanship and addiction to conservation. Fishermen, in the main, stand by the game laws as the Preacher stands by the Bible.

So, with the 1947 Trout Season opening this coming Saturday, the rush for the favorite streams and particular stretches the anglers have been thinking about ever since last Labor Day, will be on. AND HOW!

(Let us here interpolate THAT quite a few wives will also leave home WITH their husbands, Saturday. And some of the gals can sling a mighty wicked fly.)

No Matter What The Weather!

Opening Day may have any and all kinds of weather. But does that bother the trout fishing devotee? Not on your tinfoy—he will go fishing anyhow, except if there's ice on the streams—and you know our trout streams never freeze over—they're too swift.

THERE have been opening days in the past when a fellow had to wear gloves when he went fishing. Particularly if he used the old standby — "garden huckle." And his fingers shook so that an onlooker would have had a hard time deciding which was finger and which was worm.

There will be those who won't use anything but flies on opening day and all season. There will be others (and many) who will use the bait dug up out of the garden.

Old-timers tell us "fish-wums" are the only sure-fire fish-getters this early in the year. Better take a few of the lowly wrigglers along — just in case.

In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. But to the fan, no matter whether young, middle-aged or beyond, his thoughts turn to thoughts of baseball. Looks like the Tigers will be the American League champs this year. And, locally, we hope Coach Cornell's proteges will be conference baseball champs this season.

FOREST FIRES NOW NUMBER 575 A DAY

Every year America's forests and woods and ranges suffer an average of 210,000 fires . . . 575 a day. Extension foresters at Michigan State College urge extreme caution this year when timber and wood products are so desperately needed.

Michigan, in 1881, was the scene of one of the most damaging fires in the nation's history. One million acres of timber were lost, property loss was set at two million dollars, and 138 people were killed. Already, Michigan has had its first forest fire in 1947.

Farmers who intend to burn off crop land that is near wooded areas are urged to practice extreme caution. Plowing around areas to be burned will help to reduce spread of fire. Dry or windy weather should be avoided as days for burning. Plenty of tools and help should be handy in case the fire gets out of control.

Records show that care will prevent 9 out of 10 forest fires. Do your part by observing the safety rules.

Tackle Supplies Complete

This year, as at no time since before the war, the local sportsmen's supply houses have a really complete line of fishing tackle and accessories: from hooks to flies, lines, reels, rods, creels, landing nets and waders. And, if you need them—and you probably do, fishermen's togs in all their variety.

And, what is more, you'll find the prices about the same as before Hitler started his monkey antics that embroiled the whole world in war.

A Limit Catch of Speckled Beauties From a Local Stream.

The good thing about buying tackle, etc., here is that the stores have just what you need for this locality and fishing conditions. You'll find, too, that the dealers are willing to do all they can to help you select what you need. And, what's more, they want to help you save money on the purchase of equipment. That's indeed "somethin'" in these days.

Maybe your old waders need a bit of going over as to tears or other perforations—or new soles. Here we can refer you to Bill's where the waders can be repaired and vulcanized at highly reasonable rates. Bill, himself, is a fisherman, so you can be sure of the very best job possible.

Take a gander at all the folks' advertisements on these two pages and patronize them. We know from past and present experience they can give you the service to which you are entitled, plus.

For those who prefer fishing afloat, practically all the local and down-river canoe and boat liveries are ready to take care of your wants, with guides furnished, too, if you need them.

River Conditions Reported Good

Conditions of most streams in Crawford County can be summed up as "good". The surplus water from the runoff of the heavy winter snows is about out, and we streams should be at normal or near normal on Opening Day.

Tight Lines, Brother Waltonian—and a lot of them—April 26, and all season thru.

Recent rains have washed away about all the snow, and the outlook for a real fishing day on the 26th brightens as the weather at last shows some signs of warming up. We're hoping for NO more snow. Knock wood with us, Brother Anglers.

One sure bet seems to be that the water in the trout streams will be cold on April 26. Which may add to the hazards of logs and snags. A ducking at this time of year isn't exactly pleasant.

Local hostellers and owners of cabins, also guides, report quite a rush of bookings right now. No matter what the weather on opening day of the trout season, the boys will be out along their favorite streams in large numbers.

Closed Shop Is Key To Growth Of Reds

Tight Control of Unions Over Workers Offers Ideal Attraction.

Attorney General Tom Clark, G-Man J. Edgar Hoover, and even spokesmen for organized labor recently have put their finger on a primary reason for growing public contempt against the closed shop — namely, the steady spread of communism in the labor movement.

Addressing the Chicago Bar Association, General Clark declared recently that "small groups of radicals, well-coached in a pre-arranged plan, are using the party-line methods in identical activity so that they can speak to the people, not in open avowal of their aims, but with the voice of the honest working man. No country on earth, and no government, can long endure this vicious attack."

FBI Chief Hoover termed the spread of communism in the labor unions of the United States "the greatest threat this nation faces."

And earlier this month, a Detroit labor publication revealed the alarming extent to which communism has grown in the unions when it reported that of 39 CIO unions, only 14 are known to be non-communist dominated. Other unioners have openly espoused the cause of communists in the labor movement, with a Milwaukee electrical local voting five to one against refusing membership to known party members. How the closed shop has made the unions the most attractive field for communist infiltration in the U. S. has been one of the points emphasized to Congressional leaders studying the question of what to do about the closed shop and other remedial labor legislation. Some recommendation is expected from both the House and Senate labor committees in Washington within the near future, and any effort to curb either the closed shop or other so-called labor "gains" is expected to precipitate one of the hardest-fought battles of the session.

The principal attack on the closed shop has been centered on the fact that it takes away the right of citizens to work and earn a living, and that it gives union leaders a life-and-death stranglehold upon even the personal lives of union members. It is this tight control, Congressional leaders have been told, that has attracted communists to infiltrate into the labor unions with a view to seizing the workers for their cause.

The seriousness of the closed shop weapon in the hands of a few individuals was pointed out several days ago by the editor of the United States News who declared:

"Whenever any group of citizens becomes bigger than the government, it is the duty of all the people to put such groups in their places, no matter how loud the cries of pain or indignation that come from those who are reluctant to give up special privileges."

Soldier Come Home

BY BETTY ZANE WATSON

CHAPTER I

This, then, was the moment! Johnny Davis Jr., recently of the 357th Infantry of Patton's famed 90th Division, stopped at the bottom of the steps leading to the Daily Clarion.

He was determined to prolong this moment as long as possible—a moment he had dreamed of and prayed for through three long years. Years that had taken far more of his life than thirty-six months.

The gray face of the building was perhaps a shade darker from the seasons past, the lower two steps broken and still unrepaired as they had been when he had last walked down them a lifetime ago. But above all else it was home—and it hadn't changed. The room on Main Street might have been where he and his father had slept for the past twenty-three years but this office—this broken down old building—was where he had been raised from the desk drawer crib-stage to star reporter. This was home!

Standing there, anticipating the moment ahead, he saw his father, John D. Davis Sr., editor and owner of Lexington's one and only newspaper, open the door above him. He was a tall thin man and his face, which wore a constant expression of kindness, broke into a smile.

"Johnny! You old son of a gun!" He ran down the steps two at a time, an easy matter for him to do. "Thought you'd follow me over after breakfast, boy."

"Oh, I just fooled around. Wanted you to be here to welcome me," he answered with a smile. A smile that was all Johnny Davis—slow, broad and one that was sure to reach the heart. Johnny Davis was handsome but not from perfect features. He was a man's man and the irregularity of his features only accentuated his attractiveness. His black hair was cut too short to actually curl while his blue eyes told of the same kindness that belonged to his father. He and his father were of an even height and though Army life had broadened Johnny they both looked cut from the same tall thin pattern.

"I had a few places to go," he continued. No need, he thought, to tell where he had been for the last three hours—where he had to go first before coming even back to the Clarion. J. D. had probably guessed it anyway.

"Look, son, I'm sitting in on Council meeting at the City Hall in a few minutes so go on in and get to work. Harry, Tops and Findley are still with us. There's a couple of new girls at the front desks. I'll make it short—O.K.?"

As he stood now looking after his father he realized just how much this one person meant to him. How much he had done for him to take the place of the mother and family he had never known. J. D. was— he shook his head and a smile came to his lips, well, they didn't make adjectives that big he decided and walked on up the steps.

When he opened the door of the front office he found himself confronted by a spinsterish individual who looked at him inquiringly over her glasses.

"Yes, sir? Something?" Her voice, pitched high and sharp, certainly added no attraction to the plain figure that owned it.

"Look around?" It appeared as though she had never heard the expression before. "Well, whom did you wish to see?"

But the question remained unanswered. A strange girl suddenly stood between them.

"Miss Handley, I think this might be Sergeant Davis. John Davis Jr.—right?" She looked to him for confirmation.

"Right," Johnny answered relieved. "It's really not Miss Handley's fault—J. D. forgot to tell us you'd be in today." To which Miss Handley uttered a hasty apology and settled herself back at her desk quite interested in her work, leaving Johnny to the girl who had intervened at such an opportune time.

They toured the entire building, stopping only long enough to make conversation with his old friends. He followed her obediently although he knew each step of the way with his eyes closed. What he did not know, and what he managed to find out during the next ten minutes, were certain facts about Kilt Willett. He suddenly found himself very much interested in these facts.

She was about five feet six or chin height for Johnny. And her eyes were a soft brown. Her hair, a bright auburn that curled naturally in a long bob just touching her shoulders. Her figure, thin and lithe, seemed the very essence of energy.

They lastly came to his father's office and she turned to go back to her desk, hesitated, then looking back at him, asked:

"I suppose you've seen the 'Park'?" Then as if summoning more courage she left the door and came back to where he was standing. "It's really a shame, isn't it? I was so in hopes that some miracle would happen before you got home and it would be finished and waiting for you. But no such luck!" Johnny looked at her, startled at this mention of the thing which had been foremost in his mind. "I think perhaps it will take more than a miracle," he answered. She noticed the discouragement in his voice.

"J. D. wrote you about the petition, I suppose?"

"Petition? No—what for?"

"A park site for the town. The end of Maple Avenue. But don't get excited because it didn't go through. It looks as if old Lady Martin won't give Lexington the 'Park' there just won't be any."

Suddenly she seemed surprised at this sincere conversation with this stranger whom she had known such a short time. "Well, I don't mean to repeat any famous last words but—it's a good idea not to give up too soon." She smiled at him as she closed the door behind her.

Too soon—he thought. Well, it had been twenty-three years since his grandmother, Jennifer Martin, had chased the laborers from her 'Park' project. Twenty-three years on November the thirtieth. The lady Linda Martin Davis died giving birth to John D. Davis, Jr. The old lady would certainly not change her mind now.

"Oh, I just fooled around. Wanted you to be here to welcome me."

But something that had happened inside the last sixty minutes had given him courage to face any problem. Something... or perhaps someone. Kilt Willett, perhaps.

Johnny Davis stood at the front window looking down Main Street, watching for the familiar figure of his father. The old office seemed empty now that Kilt Willett had gone back to her desk in the outer office. He shoved his hands in his pockets in an impatient gesture. It was hard waiting.

The idea of the "Park" crowded all else from his mind. That was nothing new, however. When he was big enough to listen he had heard the story and since then it had been his number one ambition to see it through, to finish "The Park" that his grandmother had promised the kids at the Settlement twenty-three years ago.

Jennifer Martin Reneges on a Promise

Johnny had always been a conscientious child. Somehow, although he knew it was not so, he believed the people blamed him for the failure of the Park and he held himself responsible for the completion. Not until that time would he be completely satisfied. For surely if he had not arrived on the scene when he did, the Park would have been finished in record time. This, then, was the old question that Johnny mullied over in his mind and caused him the only unhappiness in an otherwise contented existence.

Linda Martin, Johnny's mother, had been a beautiful girl. Beautiful and wealthy as the only daughter of Jennifer Martin, owner of two of Lexington's sewer pipe plants and stock controller of the three mines in the county. Martindale, the Martin estate, was situated on a hill overlooking the town, the pipe plants growing at the foot like so many children clinging to their mother's skirts. Linda and her brother Henry were something like a prince and princess to the children of Lexington, who were mostly the children of the plant workers and miners. They had attended the best boarding schools, known only the right people's children and were thoroughly spoiled. Linda, however, retained her lovely personality through it all. Henry was a different proposition. A mean, contemptible child who had no intention of growing out of his disposition. It was a princess fallen; though, when Linda fell in love and married Johnny Davis, a "strange reporter" who had just arrived in town. Jennifer Martin completely erased her daughter from her life. She was even refused admission to Martindale.

Linda, being fond of her mother and wanting peace restored, managed through one of the servants to let her mother know she was expecting a baby. This was too much for even "Queen Martin," as her "subjects" called her; and she welcomed her daughter back with open arms—but never Johnny. Though Linda pleaded with her time and again, she would not accept her son-in-law. Linda visited her mother daily and it was during this time she suggested, planned and persuaded her mother to donate the land and the building expense of a park and a playground for the children of Lexington.

The park was to cover five acres of ground at the foot of Martindale Hill, easily accessible to the children living in the cramped quarters of the Settlement. There were to be swings, teeter-totters, a huge swimming pool and a bath house, picnic tables and whatever else might be suggested by the townspeople. Linda, sitting at the large front window, during her pregnancy, planned it all. It became almost an obsession with her during the last few weeks of her life when her mother finally gave consent to have the work started. Excitement ran high! It was almost unbelievable that "Queen Martin" was giving the town a part of her sacred land, in addition to building a park on it for them—a long-needed playground for their children. But it was true. One had only to go to the foot of the Martin estate to know that it was a fact. Workmen of all sorts—gardeners, painters, carpenters—all there to prove it.

And then one day in Fall—November 30, 1922—the workmen, the gardeners, the painters, were suddenly confronted by an irate old lady, who ran at them down the hill, shaking her cane in defiance and screaming at them to quit work immediately. It was at once a terrifying and a pitiable sight, as if she could in this way avenge the untimely death of her daughter, Linda Martin Davis, who had died giving birth to the son of a man she loathed without ever having seen him.

The workmen returned several days after the funeral and began work again, thinking that the temper and sorrow of the old lady had subsided. They soon found out they were wrong, however; when she repeated her performance, threatening to break their backs with her cane if they ever returned again.

MICHELSON MEMORIAL CHURCH NOTES

Attendance at church school climbed to the 100 mark Sunday as teachers and pupils met to sandwich the regular business of worship and lesson in between a re-cap of Achievement Day, unanimously acclaimed a complete success, an announcement of coming events, to include Children's Day exercises, probably late in May, and a Summer Picnic tentatively scheduled for early June. Perfect attendance in the fifth and seventh grades contributed to the high total for the day. Pomme Lamm received both the first and second quarter attendance pins, his name having been omitted from previous honor lists, due to an error in records.

The third graders indicated their faith in spring by moving back to their regular place in the bell-fry room, after meeting in the kitchen during the cold winter months.

Miss Pat Castle is the new first grade teacher, and Mrs. Sam Cline has adopted the sixth. It was nice to see Jacky and Sammy Cline back after a long absence due to illness and weather.

The new class in Church School Administration for high school girls started Sunday morning. The girls meet in the ninth grade class room for study at 9:30, then at the regular church hour, put their lesson into immediate practice by assisting teachers and officers wherever they are needed. With four members, the class is still open, but will be limited to not more than eight.

CRAWFORD COUNTY LIBRARY

Motorists on Michigan Avenue, these days, will see the Crawford County Library designated by a conspicuous black and orange sign. As local people start their vacation wanderings, they will see similar signs scattered here and there wherever their itinerary takes them in Michigan, for this sign has recently been adopted as standard for the county libraries throughout the state, and up and down the highways from down-state cities to the farthest resort areas. The soon-to-be familiar black and orange sign will be inviting travelers as well as local people to avail themselves of library privileges, even during vacation, and what better time is there to relax with a new book?

The local library has just received a check for $394.20, which, added to an earlier grant of $75.30, makes a total of $469.50 received this year from the State Equalization Fund, a fund established to help libraries meet the standards set by the State Board of Libraries. A library qualifies for such a grant when the per capita assessed valuation of the area of its support is less than two-thirds of the average per capita assessed valuation of the State. The money so received may be used for any project other than construction, remodeling, etc., that will improve the library and extend its services. Much of the money received last year has been used to cover the cost of subscriptions to four well-known book clubs. These subscriptions have brought to our shelves, in the year just past, 48 books of current or classic nature, most of them the books that are being talked and written about day by day, as they are received. Among the most popular have been "The Quarry", by Mildred Walker; "The Thresher", by Herbert Krouse; "In the Hands of the Seneca", Walter D. Edmonds; "Spoonhandle", Ruth Moore; and "Mrs. Mike", by Benedict and Nancy Freedman. Some of the most recently acquired titles are: "The Conquest of Peru", by W. H. Prescott; "Chequer Board", Nevil Shute; "The Tin Flute", Gabrielle Roy; and "Touchstone", by Lillian Janet.
